

Cyber Bullying Workshop

Tuesday 10th October

Are you worried about a young person who is a target of Cyber bullying, do you know someone who spends a lot of time on social media, or do you just want to know how to keep young people safe online? This interactive workshop will cover the following:

- How does the teenage brain stage of development affect how teenagers interact online?
- How should professionals safely help young people who have been bullied or who may be at risk of suicide?
- Understand the new Harmful Digital Communications Act of 2015
- What steps should be followed if nude images or inappropriate messages are used online?
- How should professionals act ethically on social media, eg adding young people as personal friends?
- What does research suggest is the best way to approach online bullying?
- How should professionals approach young people and ask the right questions?
- How should professionals engage parents or other caregivers either in response to an incident or for prevention?
- How can social media be used in a positive way?

This workshop is ideally suited to youth workers, social workers, counsellors, teachers, nurses, doctors and anyone who works with young people. No matter how much you know about online interactions you will learn something from this workshop.
