

Helping Young People Achieve Their Dreams Workshop

Thursday 28th September 2017

Most five-year olds have a dream or a goal that they want to accomplish. All too often the world pours cold water on this. Research has shown that if young people have a skill that is valued then they are likely to do well in life. In this fun and interactive workshop, we will look at the research around young people who use their gifts and talents. You will discover:

- ◆ How to help young people dare to dream
- ◆ How you can help young people reach their full potential
- ◆ How you can give young people opportunities to use their talents and gifts
- ◆ How to help young people who are too embarrassed to give things a go
- ◆ What talents you can cultivate for young people who are not artistic, musical or sporty.

A must for teachers, teacher aides, youth workers, social workers, guidance counsellors, or anyone working with youth.
